Making Biomedical Treatment A Reality

The 4-A Healing Foundation, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) public charity that assists families with financial needs who have children affected by Autism, ADHD, Asthma, and Allergies - collectively known as the 4-A Disorders. Financial assistance will be provided to families solely to help cover the cost of appropriate biomedical treatment.

The Origin of the 4-A Healing Foundation

The 4-A Healing Foundation was established by Kenneth A. Bock, M.D. in 2007, to help families pursue comprehensive biomedical evaluation and treatment for children who have been affected by one or more of the 4-A Disorders.

By 2007, Dr. Bock had treated more than one thousand children with various 4-A Disorders, utilizing a unique biomedical approach that addresses not only the troubling and disabling symptoms of these disorders, but also seeks to discover and remediate their root causes. Using this approach, Dr. Bock has achieved positive results in the vast majority of his patients.

As the treatment results of Dr. Bock and his colleagues have clearly demonstrated, biomedical interventions, when applied as part of a healing program that also includes appropriate clinical and educational interventions, have helped thousands of children to improve. In increasing numbers, these children are even achieving recovery.

Dr. Bock, though, recognized the significant financial burden that is often incurred over the course of this treatment approach, and empathized with the families who were economically unable to pursue it.

Therefore, Dr. Bock felt that he needed to find a way to help provide financial assistance for the families who could not keep pace with the expenses of these programs. He felt strongly that if a family showed the intent and determination to pursue this line of evaluation and treatment, they should receive as much encouragement, information, assistance and support as possible.

To achieve his vision of assisting families in their pursuit of biomedical treatment for the 4-A Disorders, he brought together a Board of Directors and an Advisory Board, and created the 4-A Healing Foundation. He also began collaborating with various individuals and professionals who shared his passion for increasing the financial accessibility of biomedical treatments.

The 4-A Healing Foundation is now a vehicle that allows people with financial means, a philanthropic mindset, and a heart open to the plight of these children and their families, to make a meaningful and most appreciated contribution to healing the 4-A Disorders.

The Mission of the 4-A Healing Foundation

The 4-A Healing Foundation's mission is clearly defined with the following prioritized four goals:

- Provide financial assistance to families in need who have children diagnosed with a 4-A Disorder to pursue biomedical evaluation and treatment
- Develop a physician network that will treat children using the 4-A Healing Program
- Create a state-of-the-art research institute for prevention and biomedical treatment of the 4-A Disorders
- Raise global awareness of, and provide research support for, biomedical treatment for the 4-A Disorders

Financial Assistance

The 4-A Healing Foundation's focus is to alleviate the financial burden of biomedical treatment so that children diagnosed with a 4-A Disorder can begin the journey of healing and recovery. Too often, a child is diagnosed with a 4-A Disorder and the family is unable to afford the appropriate biomedical treatments, forcing parents to make the difficult decision between providing these treatments to their child and supporting their family's many other needs.

The financial assistance process is defined by a financial model that is primarily based upon a family's disposable income and number of people in the household. Financial assistance applications are initially reviewed by the Executive Director, who then presents eligible applications to the Board of Directors for their approval.

4-A Healing Physician Network

The 4-A Healing Foundation will train and monitor qualified physicians across the U.S. to treat children using the 4-A Healing Program. Physicians will be carefully selected, based upon their credentials and experience, and will be reviewed by the Board of Directors on an annual basis.

Biomedical Research Institute

In the future, it is anticipated that the 4-A Healing Foundation will be involved in funding research to further identify causes and effective treatments for the 4-A Disorders. This vision also includes the eventual creation of a premier research institute for 4-A Disorders, which would help bring clarity and cohesiveness to the biomedical treatment field.

The anticipated goals of the 4-A Research Institute will include:

- Improved and increased patient-focused treatment
- Documentation of clinical benefits to promote educational efforts and support enhanced insurance coverage

Increased Biomedical Awareness

Raising biomedical awareness is imperative for the ultimate prevention of 4-A Disorders. Many families with children diagnosed with a 4-A Disorder have never heard of this method of treatment and may be unaware that medical treatment is even possible. While “word of mouth” may currently be the prevalent method of spreading knowledge of this treatment approach, a consistent, focused educational awareness effort is imperative for achieving the greatest long-term impact on the 4-A Disorders.

Communicating the benefits of this highly effective treatment program must be improved. The Foundation anticipates raising awareness using TV appearances, radio, newsletters, books and national campaigns.

Kenneth A. Bock, M.D., Founder

FAAFP, FACN, CNS

Kenneth A. Bock, M.D. graduated Summa Cum Laude from the State University of New York at Buffalo in 1973 and went on to receive his M.D. with Honor from the University of Rochester School of Medicine, in 1979.

He is Board Certified in Family Medicine and is a clinical instructor in the Department of Family Medicine at Albany Medical College. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Family Practice, the American College of Nutrition and the American College for Advancement in Medicine.

He is the immediate past President of The American College for Advancement in Medicine and a certified clinical nutrition specialist.

For the past 25 years he has dealt with complex medical problems by integrating alternative modalities with conventional medicine into a comprehensive integrative medical paradigm, and for the last nine years he has focused that approach on children with autism spectrum disorders, ADHD, asthma and allergies.

Dr. Bock's Healing Program for children affected by these disorders, which consists of environmental controls, dietary modification, nutritional supplementation, detoxification, and appropriate medication, is at the vanguard of the biomedical approach to the treatment of the 4-A Disorders.

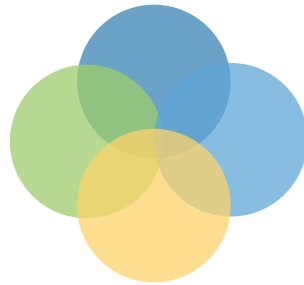

Dr. Bock has lectured widely for the past two decades, nationally and internationally, on a broad range of topics including integrative approaches to immune system health, and the treatment of complex chronic illness, including Lyme disease, Chronic Fatigue Syndrome, and the biomedical treatment of autism, ADHD, asthma and allergies.

He has written for general interest publications, including Psychology Today, and has been a contributing author to numerous published articles and studies in medical journals, including The Journal of Neuroimmunology, The Journal of Public Health, American Journal of Medical Genetics Part B (Neuropsychiatric Genetics), and Expert Review of Anti-Infective Therapy.

He is the co-author of four books: The Road to Immunity, published by Pocket Books, Natural Relief for Your Child's Asthma, published by Harper Collins, The Germ Survival Guide, published by McGraw Hill, and Healing the New Childhood Epidemics: Autism, ADHD, Asthma and Allergies, published by Random House in 2007.
